

Melissa Lee MP
National Party Spokesperson
for the Digital Economy and Communications

We must acknowledge the specific digital challenges that rural communities face in New Zealand.

National believes in a digital future.

We must work together
to ensure that no
community is left behind.

New Zealand needs to be more digitally resilient.

With the right investment, innovation, and regulatory framework, we can create a country where everyone has access to high-quality internet services.
